

Kevin E. Walker
Senior Vice President, Power Supply at Southern California Edison

Kevin Walker is Senior Vice President of Power Supply at Southern California Edison (SCE), one of the largest electric utilities in the country. He is responsible for SCE's wholesale energy contracting and management activities, operations and maintenance of the company's power production facilities, and the decommissioning of the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station.

Prior to this role, Mr. Walker worked at Ernst & Young in the power and utilities practice as a senior strategic advisor. He also is a Co-founder of TurtleWise, Inc., a virtual advice and mentoring platform.

He held the position of Chief Operating Officer of Iberdrola USA (now Avangrid) through May of 2016 where he was responsible for providing safe, reliable and affordable power to more than 2.4 million customers throughout New York, Maine, New Hampshire and Connecticut.

He has also held the position of Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer for American Electric Power (AEP), responsible for the development and support of AEP's software applications and the operation of AEP's information technology infrastructure across its eleven-state utility jurisdiction. Also, while at AEP, Mr. Walker was President and Chief Operating Officer for AEP Ohio, serving approximately 1.44 million customers in Ohio and the northern West Virginia panhandle.

Before joining AEP, Mr. Walker was Vice President, Maintenance and Construction Services, for Consolidated Edison of New York where he directed efforts to ensure the efficient delivery of maintenance and construction services throughout the Consolidated Edison service territory, including the five boroughs of New York City and Westchester. He was instrumental in directing recovery of energy service following the attack on the World Trade Center on September 11, 2001. Mr. Walker spent 13 years with Consolidated Edison in various leadership positions that included Plant Manager, Steam Operations Department Manager, and New York City public affairs liaison, during the administration of former Mayor Rudy Giuliani.

Mr. Walker served for more than six years in the U.S. Army as a field artillery officer. He did assignments in Augsburg, Germany, at Fort Bragg, NC, and a combat tour in support of Operation Desert Storm in Iraq.

Mr. Walker is a 1985 graduate of the United States Military Academy, earning a Bachelor's of Science in engineering. He also has a Master's of Business Administration from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School.

He is married with twin young children and currently resides in Pasadena, CA.
